AUTHORS PUBLISHING WITH ANS

The new U.S. copyright law, effective since January 1, 1978, increases the protection obtainable for copyrightable works. Also, the law provides that rights transferred to a publisher must be covered by a written agreement.

The Agreement ANS now is asking authors to enter into is enclosed. Important rights are retained by the author, especially the right to use all or part of his work in future works of which he is the author. The author also retains all proprietary rights than copyright, such as patent rights.

The right to grant or refuse to third parties permission to republish all or part of his work also is retained by the author provided written permission also is given by ANS. But ANS asks that other use of the material by author or third parties be restricted until six months after publication by ANS.

The copyright agreement should be signed and sent to ANS headquarters. (Note that in the case of co-authors, only one author's signature is needed.) A copy of the Agreement will be signed by ANS and then returned to you for your records.

We will be pleased to answer any questions you may have concerning this procedure or the copyright protection you receive when you publish with ANS.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Gardner
Manager, ANS Publications

AGREEMENT ON COPYRIGHT

Certain rights under copyright to the article (MS. 10-72) submitted with the title: _____

Monte Carlo Application of Arnoldi's Method for Acceleration of Eigenvalue and Fission Source Convergence

by Jeremy Lloyd Conlin and James Paul Holloway

are assigned to the American Nuclear Society (ANS), effective when the article ("work") is accepted for presentation or publication in ANS, and secured by ANS registration of publication collective works of which this article will be a part.

The Assignor (author or authors) warrants that he has full right to make this Agreement, that his work does not violate the rights of other persons nor infringe upon any existing copyrighted work. If copyrighted material of a third party is included, the Assignor agrees that he will obtain required permission for its reuse.

The Assignor retains the right to reproduce this article for his own use. Also, the Assignor keeps the right to use all or part of the work in future works he prepares—but not within six months after ANS publishes the article, unless agreed to by ANS.

The Assignor also retains the right to grant to third parties permission to republish all or part of the work, provided written permission also given by ANS. Proprietary rights other than copyrights, such as patent rights, also are retained by the Assignor.

If the Assignor is acting for other authors, their rights are retained or transferred in the same manner under this Agreement.

If the author(s) created this work while employed by the U.S. Government or one of its contractors, and within the scope of such employment, the U.S. Government is granted a nonexclusive royalty-free license to publish, republish, or reproduce the work or to allow others to reproduce this work for U.S. Government purposes.

Often research projects are completed prior to billing, which can cause difficulty in meeting this obligation. We are offering the opportunity for you to pay these charges earlier, while your account is active.

Page charges are billed to authors/organizations at the time the paper is published. If you know that funds will not be available at the time of billing, please contact the Publications Department of the American Nuclear Society (ANS) to arrange for an earlier billing.

Page charges are an important source of revenue that support the publication efforts of ANS. Payment of page charges will enable us to continue the publication of needed peer-review research and development information. We appreciate your consideration and support.

For more information, contact the ANS publications department.
